

AMERICAN ANTHROPOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION

ANTHROPOLOGY NEWS AUTHOR AGREEMENT

The American Anthropological Association (AAA) is pleased to have the privilege of publishing

(title of work) in

Anthropology News. So that you as author and AAA as publisher may be protected from the consequences of unauthorized use of the contents of the work, we require, as a condition of publication, that you assign to AAA all rights, including subsidiary rights, to the work. This will enable us to register the contribution in the US Copyright Office and in other countries. You will have nonexclusive license to use the work without charge and without further permission after it has been published by AAA, as described below.

Pursuant to this agreement, the AAA is undertaking to publish the work, of which the undersigned is author. In consideration thereof, the author hereby grants and assigns exclusively to the AAA for its use all right, title, interest in, and copyright for the work described above, in all means of expression including all electronic and other media, of whatever kind or nature now and hereafter existing, whether by common law or statutory Copyright Laws of the United States and all other countries in all languages, and including all subsidiary rights together with the right to secure renewals, reissues, and extensions of the copyright. The exclusive rights mentioned herein shall be the property of the AAA for the period of the copyright and any renewal thereof. The author also grants the AAA nonexclusive rights to publish in print and online any supporting materials submitted in conjunction with the work, such as images, audio, video, and other multimedia files. These files will be uploaded to a AAA web property in order to be embedded in the online work. The author's retention of rights in online supporting materials does not apply to or affect AAA's exclusive rights in the work in all forms, including electronic versions. If the author does not own the rights to the supporting materials, they must obtain and provide a record of permission from the copyright holder for use in all print and online publications of the work.

The AAA, in turn, grants the author a limited license for the following purposes:

1. The right of republication in any publication for which they are the sole author or editor, after publication by AAA, without obtaining written permission or payment of any royalty to the AAA;
2. The right to post the work on the author's personal or institutional or company website;
3. The right to make or distribute copies of the work for use in teaching and for educational purposes consistent with fair use principles; and
4. The right to post the manuscript draft post editorial review on a noncommercial, discipline-specific public server.

However, the AAA requires, as a condition of this license, that the author prominently display the original copyright notice on the website posting and reproduce the copyright notice on any republication, that is, "Copyright [Year] American Anthropological Association," and include a link to its digital publication site, currently AnthroSource and/or the AN website. The author is also required, in accordance with the usual practice of reprint publications, to include the line:

Last Name, First Name. Year. "Article Title." Anthropology News. [Link]

The author represents and warrants the following:

1. That they are the sole author of the work named above or, if the material is jointly authored, that each of the authors has authorized you to act as their agent in agreeing to the terms and making representation herein stated;
2. That the work is original and has not heretofore been published (except that it may have been circulated as an informal working paper for limited distribution);
3. That the work does not infringe on any statutory copyright, common law right, proprietary right, or any other right whatsoever; that the work is innocent and contains no matter that is scandalous, obscene, libelous, nor invades the privacy of any person, or is otherwise contrary to law;
4. That there is no other owner of the rights herein conveyed to the AAA and that such rights have not previously been conveyed, assigned, or encumbered in whole or in part to any other person or persons. If the work has been previously published in whole or in part in a copyrighted medium, the author guarantees to submit an assignment of copyright to the AAA, and the author will submit copy for credit lines with the manuscript; and
5. That any images, audio, video, or other multimedia components in the work are either your own or that you have obtained permission for this use from the copyright holders.

The decision to reprint or translate all or any portion of the work to be published in a reader, anthology, second serial, digest, syndication, or nonbook format (dramatization, motion picture [sight and sound], radio, television, electronic recording, digital or other electronic media) will be at the sole discretion of the AAA. The author agrees to refer to the AAA any inquiries regarding permission to reprint or use in any manner the material and further agrees to promptly report to the AAA any unauthorized reproduction. If you, acting for yourself and as the authorized agent of any and all other authors of the material, agree to the terms herein stated, please indicate your agreement by signing this letter in the space provided below and immediately return one copy to the office shown below and retain one copy for your files. Electronic submissions are accepted as valid if the relevant box below is checked.

By submitting a pitch or manuscript for publication in Anthropology News, the author commits to maintaining respectful and ethical professional relationships in accordance with the AAA Principles of Professional Responsibility. The author further understands that sexual, sexual identity, or racial/ethnic harassment—or harassment of any kind—is unethical and unacceptable professional behavior, and that it is unethical to exploit the inequalities of power that characterize many professional relationships to obtain personal, sexual, or professional advantages. The author understands that unprofessional conduct may be considered grounds for being excluded from future reviewing and publication opportunities.

This Agreement shall be governed by the laws of the United States and the Commonwealth of Virginia. Any controversy or claim arising out of or relating to this Agreement, or the breach thereof, shall be settled by binding arbitration administered by the American Arbitration Association in Arlington County, Virginia, or Washington, DC, in accordance with its Commercial Arbitration Rules, and judgment on the award rendered by the arbitrator(s) may be entered in any court having jurisdiction thereof.

If you have any questions about the above procedures, please address them to:

American Anthropological Association
2300 Clarendon Boulevard, Suite 210
Arlington, VA 22201
email an@americananthro.org

Name: Date:

Permanent Address:

Telephone Number:

Primary Email Address:

Accepted and Approved by (author of the work):

Signature:

* If you cannot use the signature box above, check the box below and type your name.

Please use the field below as my signature. ☐

Typed Signature

For the American Anthropological Association:

Signature: Sean Mallin

Date:

Sean Mallin, Director of Publications and Programs